Cusack used deep brown as the accent color—for the chandelier's shades, for the framed art, in patterned fabrics—to bridge the dining room and kitchen. To create a border for the curtains, she turned the vertical stripe of the Ralph Lauren linen horizontal. Chair fabric from Barclay Butera. Dining chairs from Nancy Carzine, Williams-Sonoma Home blown glass chandelier, Ralph Lauren hurricanes.

The deepest interior of the master bathroom gets plenty of light, thanks to a generous mirror placed across from the window in the marble-lined shower, OPPOSITE ABOVE, and an antique crystal chandelier suspended over an Empire tub from Waterworks. OPPOSITE BELOW: A Barbara Barry desk and chair—upholstered in Cowtan & Tout's Ocalot—add to the glamorous feel Cusack wanted for the master bedroom.
